

CLARE LINDQUIST,
Plaintiff,
v.
TARGET CORPORATION,
Defendant.

Case No. 19-cv-08029-HSG

ORDER ON MOTION TO REMAND

Re: Dkt. No. 8

Before the Court is the motion to remand filed by Plaintiff Clare Lindquist. Dkt. Nos. 8 (“Mot.”), 9 (“Opp.”), 10 (“Reply”). For the reasons set forth below, the Court REMANDS this entire action to state court.¹

I. BACKGROUND

Plaintiff brings a claim alleging general negligence and premises liability against Defendant Target Corporation (“Target” or “Corporation”) and Does 1–10. Plaintiff filed her Complaint in the Superior Court of California in the County of Marin on November 8, 2018. Dkt. No. 1-3 (“Compl.”). Plaintiff completed service of the Complaint on November 14, 2018. See Dkt. No. 8-1, Ex. 2.

On December 27, 2018, Target served a request for statement of damages under California Civil Code section 425.11, asking Plaintiff to “provide a statement setting forth the nature and amount of damages being sought, both general and special, within fifteen (15) days.” Dkt. No. 9-1, Ex. 3. Plaintiff objected to the request on January 9, 2019. Id. at Ex. 4. Target states that on November 21, 2019, “Plaintiff finally made a demand through email and U.S. Mail to settle the case for $360,000.00 whereby Target first became on notice that Plaintiff sought over $75,000 in

1 damages.” Opp. at 2. Target then filed a Notice of Removal based on diversity jurisdiction on
2 December 9, 2019. Dkt. No. 1.

3 II. LEGAL STANDARD

4 A defendant may remove a state court action to federal court on the basis of diversity of 5 citizenship. 28 U.S.C. § 1441(b); see also id. § 1332. In general, a defendant may not remove an 6 action on the basis of diversity jurisdiction “more than one year after the commencement of the 7 state court action.” Id. § 1446(c)(1); see also Bush v. Cheaptickets, Inc., 425 F.3d 683, 688 (9th
8 Cir. 2005) (holding that “commencement” in this context refers to when the action was initiated in 9 state court, according to state procedures). But untimely removal is warranted where “the plaintiff
10 has acted in bad faith in order to prevent a defendant from removing the action.” Id. Because “the 11 removing defendant has always borne the burden of establishing federal jurisdiction,” Abrego
12 Abrego v. The Dow Chem. Co., 443 F.3d 676, 682-83 (9th Cir. 2006) (internal quotation omitted),
13 the defendant bears the burden of proving that the plaintiff acted in bad faith. See id. at 685
14 (where the removal statutes are silent as to burden allocation, the general rule applies).

15 III. ANALYSIS

16 Plaintiff seeks remand arguing that Target failed to timely remove the action within one
17 year after Plaintiff filed its initial pleading as required by 28 U.S.C. § 1441(c)(1). “A case may 18 not be removed . . . on the basis of [diversity] jurisdiction . . . more than 1 year after
19 commencement of the action, unless the district court finds that the plaintiff has acted in bad faith
20 in order to prevent a defendant from removing the action.” 28 U.S.C. § 1441(c)(1). It is 21 indisputable that Target did not file its removal notice until over thirteen months after the initial 22 pleading in state court.

23 Target argues that Plaintiff acted in bad faith here by deliberately failing to disclose the 24 actual amount in controversy until November 21, 2019 to prevent removal. Opp. at 3. However,
25 nothing in the record suggests this to be the case. The submitted discovery record makes clear that
26 Plaintiff was seeing doctors to address her injuries through the discovery period and responding to 27 discovery requests as to the extent of her damages as she became aware. See Dkt. No. 10-1, Ex. 4.
28

1 Target's bad faith allegation thus fails for lack of any support.²

2 IV. CONCLUSION

3 For the reasons set forth above, the Court hereby REMANDS this entire action back to the 4 Superior Court of California for the County of Marin. The parties shall bear their own costs. The 5 Clerk of the Court is instructed to close the file. This Order terminates docket no. 8.
